DIVERS AND SHORELINE VOLUNTEERS NEEDED ON INTERNATIONAL CLEANUP DAY

Toronto Ontario diving community and local residents are being called upon to celebrate International Cleanup Day on Sunday, September 14th 2008

Underwater Bubbles Scuba Diving Club needs your help to target underwater and shoreline debris in your local area. Project AWARE Foundation, the dive industry's leading environmental organization, coordinates underwater clean up events and urges divers and volunteers to jump in their wetsuits, pull on their gloves and make a splash for trash!

"Project AWARE is pleased to support Underwater Bubbles Scuba Diving Club. Divers are the guardians of our underwater environments – they often see first hand the effects of marine debris on our delicate ecosystem. This event is the largest single day volunteer event on behalf of our underwater environment. It's a fantastic example of how people can work together to take action." said Jenny Miller Garmendia, Director of Project AWARE Foundation.

"It's not too late to get involved," said Underwater Bubbles Scuba Diving Club.

"If you're interested in participating, please give us a call: 416-839-1839. And you don't have to be a diver to get involved. Bring your friends and family along and help make clean waters a reality."

A clean up of Centennial Beach and surroundings in Barrie Ontario. Meet at public parking lot on Lakeshore Dr. between Bayfield St. and Tiffin St., at 10:00am. For further information call the Site Organizer: Edward Chan at 416-839-1839.

All divers need to confirm participation before the day and will be required to bring their diver certification card dive equipment including exposure suit, mask, fins, snorkel, and regulator, BCD and air tank and sign an Underwater Liability Release Form.

On September 14th 2008 Sunday, we are going to participate in the International Beach Clean Up Day. From 10:00am to approximately 3:00pm, we will be at Centennial Park Beach up in Barrie and perform an underwater and a beach cleanup. All members are invited to bring along their families to join us to make this a fun and a meaningful day for the place that we live on, the earth. We are going to make it a true family fun outing event. Logistic is still in the planning stage, please stay tune for any upcoming news. However, one thing guaranteed is we are going to have lots of fun that day.

Take the plunge for International Cleanup Day. Help make clean waters a reality.

DIVE TRAVEL

SOUTH CAICOS TCI

May 3 – 10 2007

Deep blue sea with stormy waves
Giant stride into the sea
With anticipation and excitement

Peaceful surroundings
Just listening to my own steady breathing
Sea plants waving along with the sea current
A welcome dance with rhythm and freedom

School of colorful fish leisurely passing by
Coral reef house interesting sea lives
Testing my patience and observation skills
My heart and soul are captured by the sea of wonders

Stingray hidden under the bed of sand
Staring at us with its big innocent eyes
"Pee-a- Boo! I see you but you don't see me"
What a lovely creature

Sea turtles swimming in the sea
Graciously waving their paddles
Up and down off they go

Deep blue sea full of life
Exonerate its splendid beauty
With harmony and pride

BROCKVILLE TRIP June 22 2008

On June 22 2008, Sunday, 14 of us get together and diving at Brockville. We ended up doing 2 dives at the Keystorm, the best wreck dive we have had in the Thousand Islands St. Lawrence Seaway. Thanks to Candy taking care of all the dive tanks and dive gear transportation, and Danny, our designated photographer. Most of the pictures taken can be seen on his site. Anyhow, it was a great dive day.

KINGSTON TRIP

July 20 2008

Our next trip is Kingston. It should be as good as the Brockville trip. However, due to cold water in Kingston, and the thermocline, drysuit dive is strongly recommended. We will have more detail about the trip during our next club meeting, July 10 2008. Drop by the next club meeting to find out more and sign up for the trip.

*Mark your calendar or print out a copy of the following calendar for your reference.
Hope to see you all in every one of our event.*
